Retaliation By Egypt Threatened

CAIRO, Egypt, March 3 (AP)—Egypt threatened today to hit back in force against Israel if border clashes between the two countries continued.

In Damascus, Egyptian and Syrian officials announced the signing of a new Arab defense pact aimed at the Jewish state. Then the Egyptian delegation, headed by National Guidance Minister Salah Salem, moved on to Amman with hopes of adding Jordan as a third partner. All three countries are Israel's neighbors.

These developments came on the eve of an emergency session of the United Nations Security Council in New York tomorrow to discuss Egypt's charges of aggression by Israel.

Egypt charges Israeli forces made two attacks on Egyptian troops Monday night on the outskirts of Gaza, Egyptian-held city about two miles on the Egyptian side of the armistice-fixed border in southwest Palestine.

The Egyptians reported 36 of their soldiers and 2 civilians killed in the clash and 31 wounded. In Jerusalem, an Israeli army spokesman tonight put Israeli casualties at 8 soldiers killed and 15 wounded.

In New York, Israel complained to the U. S. that Egypt has continuously violated the 1949 armistice that ended the fighting in the Palestine war. The complaint was presented as a counter-charge against Egypt for consideration at tomorrow's council meeting.

Egyptian Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser told cheering students at his country's military college in Cairo, "We are now strong enough for Israel." He declared the Egyptian army has been ordered "to retaliate by force against any provocation."

Nasser, head of Egypt's governing Revolution Council, blamed "treachery displayed by the Security Council and the allies of Israel" for the defeat of the Arabs of Israel in the 1948 Palestine war. He added:

Stock Exchange President Differs With Fulbright On Cause Of Big Market Boom

WASHINGTON, March 3 (AP)—A gentlemanly disagreement over what's behind the big stock boom marked the opening today of the Senate's "friendly" investigation of the stock market.

The chairman of the Senate Banking Committee, scholarly Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark.), suggested the financial community itself has forced up prices by "luring" more and more people into buying common stock at a time when comparatively few issues are available.

"The president of the New York Stock Exchange, G. Keith Funston, rejected the word "luring" but acknowledged that as more investors come into the market the effect under present circumstances tends to be inflationary.

Funston argued, however that soaring stock prices and not any recruitment of stock brokers has been the biggest factor in attracting some one million buyers to the market in the last three years.

The exchange chief was the first witness called in what Fulbright has described as a "friendly study" of the stock market. Testifying to the market's health, Funston said he will continue to invest his savings in stocks.

He told the committee the 18-month boom reflects the public's faith in the future. He held that it cannot be compared to the conditions that brought on the 1929 crash.

The Egyptians reported 36 of the friendliness of the morning session faded at the end of the day when Fulbright and a few other Democratic senators

U.S. Priest Spends Final Hours In Russia Hearing Confessions

MOSCOW, March 3 (AP)—The Rev. Georges Bissont, American Roman Catholic priest ordered expelled by Saturday, devoted hours today to hearing confessions of his saddened Western diplomatic parishioners.

Soviet police lifted his passport yesterday without giving a reason. Today they acceded to the young priest's plea for as much additional time as possible and granted him permission to leave the country by plane instead of by train.

The 33-year-old clergyman from Central Falls, R.I., will fly from Moscow Saturday to Helsinki, Finland. A farewell party will be held Friday night by U.S. Ambassador and Mrs. Charles E. Bohem at their residence, Spasso House. The American colony and other Westerners have been invited.

"I will spend all my remaining time here hearing confessions and saying 'goodbye,'" Father Bissont said. "Many friends have volunteered to do my packing."

This morning Father Bissont, with tears streaming down his cheeks, bade farewell to his weeping congregation as he said his final mass in the chapel adjoining his apartment. He has held services there since he came to Moscow in January, 1953.

The chapel was nearly filled with those who feel his loss the more keenly because of Lent and the approaching holy season of Easter. Breaking down at times, Father Bissont told his listeners to worship in the future at the local church of St. Marie de Francais.

With diet close to the list of conversation pieces, it takes the heroes out of abstinence. There may be greater self denial in watching the critical analysis of our neighbor and turn our judgment, which could be a real injury, into a little praise.

Quemoy, Matsu Won't Be Used As Truce Pawns

TAIPEI, Formosa, March 3 (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles told President Chiang Kai-shek today Quemoy and the Matsu would not be used in any cease-fire negotiations without Nationalist consent, sources close to Dulles reported.

These sources said abandonment of the offshore islands would be considered only if the Nationalists agreed and if such a step could bring a guarantee of peace in Asia.

The Nationalists have vowed to defend Quemoy and the Matsu against the Communists. Chiang himself seemed to throw cold water on any attempt to tie his hands shortly after Dulles left for Washington.

Chiang told the closing session of the Central Committee of the Kuomintang—his Nationalist party—that the government must strengthen itself to "realize our mission of counterattack and national survival."

Dulles reiterated that the mobile U. S. air and sea forces in the Far East would be used as a deterrent to aggression. But he put the accent on peace in a statement at the airport before his departure.

"It is the ardent hope of the United States," he said, "that the Chinese Communists will not insist on war as an instrument of their policy."

Dulles' first act on his arrival earlier in the day was to sign the mutual defense treaty under which the United States guarantees to defend Formosa and the nearby Pescadores from Red attack.

He has said previously the United States would not defend the offshore islands "as such" but would watch closely for any Communist attempt to use them as stepping stones to an attack on Formosa.

In his airport statement, Dulles skirted the question of the offshore islands, which block the ports of Amoy and Foochow which the Communists might use for an invasion of Formosa.

Dulles seemed to underscore the lack of a definite U. S. commitment on the islands in these words:

"It is not possible at this time to state explicitly how that defense of Formosa) will be conducted. The treaty area, in so far as regards the Republic of China, covers Taiwan (Formosa) and the adjacent Pescadores."

As the first day of inquiry ended, Fulbright praised Funston for "frankness," and the exchange head said he had enjoyed the quizzing.

"I didn't think I was going to, but I did," he said. "You have been more than fair to me."

This is the first congressional look at the stock market since 1953. It is aimed at finding out how changing government and business policies have affected the tickers.

U. S. Hits Korean Truce Commission

The State Department announced it is backing up demands by Sweden and Switzerland, two members of the commission, that it be abolished.

Robert Earl Hughes is a real heavyweight champion.

Farmer Weighs 946 Pounds —And He's Still Growing

By GROVER BRINKMAN
Central Press Correspondent

BAYLIS, Ill.—Living on an isolated farm near this small Illinois town is the biggest man in the world. Or at least so Robert Earl Hughes believes. So far he has met with no competition. His weight on his last birthday—his 28th, incidentally—was 946 pounds!

That's right! Nine hundred forty-six pounds. Not a printer's error, but an actuality. Robert makes folk goggle-eyed. Humans just don't get that big! But here's one that did. And he's still growing!

Robert was a normal baby at birth, weighing 11½ pounds. But when he was but three months of age, he had a bad attack of whooping cough. Doctors believe that the paroxysms of coughing might have disturbed the balance of his growth controlling glands.

In any event, he was oversize at two; and by the time he was 10, his weight was 375 pounds. He kept going to an elementary school several miles from his farm home until he was in the seventh grade. By then he had tipped the scales at 550 pounds, and they didn't have a seat in school big enough for him. Furthermore, he couldn't make the walk; to and from school

Today, Robert is six feet tall, but he appears shorter, due to his immense girth. He wears size 11 shoes; finds tennis sneakers most comfortable.

Clothing must be made to order. It takes six yards of cloth, for instance, for one shirt. He has a 31½-inch waistline. It's an exact yard around his huge arm, above the elbow.

Robert eats like any normal person. However, every bit of food seems to turn into fat. He's so big now that walking is a problem. He can walk, with the aid of a cane, but only for a short distance.

When Bob is home on the farm, he sits on a specially-made bench that will accommodate his huge frame. Nearby is his radio, to which he listens almost constantly. In the game room is his bed, an old-fashioned wooden bed that has been reinforced with steel to bear his immense weight.

One of Robert's biggest tasks is getting to town to get weighed. He can't squeeze inside a car—even a Cadillac. So the alternative is to hoist him aboard a truck. Even that is a problem.

Ordinary scales are too small for Hughes, so he must be weighed on commercial scales, normally used for grain, produce and live stock.

Robert is mentally alert, loves to receive and write letters. People from all over the country visit him. "At first they just stand there, staring," Robert says, "unable to believe their eyes. Then they start asking questions—dozens of questions."

The Day I Became 21

"Dad said a lot of things to me that day . . . about working hard and being ready to make the most of good breaks and the best of bad breaks. He told me I couldn't look into the future but I could be ready for it. And he pointed out the importance of having a planned insurance program.

"Dad would be proud to know that I carry adequate fire and extended coverage on our home and contents, auto liability and collision insurance, and other all-around coverage."

Doctors are amazed that he is alive today. "I'm not a good insurance risk," Robert said, "but I'm pretty healthy, believe it or not."

Quemoy, Matsus Won't Be Used As Truce Pawns

TAIPEI, Formosa, March 3 (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles told President Chiang Kai-shek today Quemoy and the Matsus would not be used in any cease-fire negotiations without Nationalist consent, sources close to Dulles reported.

These sources said abandonment of the off-shore islands would be considered only if the Nationalists agreed and if such a step could bring a guarantee of peace in Asia.

The Nationalists have vowed to defend Quemoy and the Matsus against the Communists. Chiang himself seemed to throw cold water on any attempt to tie his hands shortly after Dulles left for Washington.

Chiang told the closing session of the Central Committee of the Kuomintang—his Nationalist party—that the government must strengthen itself to "realize our mission of counterattack and national survival."

Dulles reiterated that the mobile U. S. air and sea forces in the Far East would be used as a deterrent to aggression. But he put the accent on peace in a statement at the airport before his departure.

"It is the ardent hope of the United States," he said, "that the Chinese Communists will not insist on war as an instrument of their policy."

Dulles' first act on his arrival earlier in the day was to sign the mutual defense treaty under which the United States guarantees to defend Formosa and the nearby Pescadores from Red attack.

He has said previously the United States would not defend the offshore islands "as such" but would watch closely for any Communist attempt to use them as stepping stones to an attack on Formosa.

In his airport statement, Dulles skirted the question of the offshore islands, which block the ports of Amoy and Foochow which the Communists might use for an invasion of Formosa.

Dulles seemed to underscore the lack of a definite U. S. commitment on the islands in these words: "It is not possible at this time to state explicitly how that defense of Formosa) will be conducted. The treaty area, in so far as regards the Republic of China, covers Taiwan (Formosa) and the (adjacent) Pescadores.

"Public Law Four, enacted with virtual unanimity, gives the President the authority to use the armed forces of the United States for securing and protecting Taiwan and the Pescadores and of such related positions now in friendly hands and taking such other measures as the President judges appropriate to assure the defense of Taiwan and the Pescadores."

Earthquakes Hit In Wake Of Lava Flow

PAHOA, Hawaii, March 3 (AP)—Earthquakes hit Hawaii's stricken eastern tip today, lava from a new mile-long fissure spurted 400 feet in the air, and choking fumes drove some residents from their homes.

Steam once more billowed ominously from the earth. Dr. Gordon A. MacDonald, Hawaii volcanologist, said the new outbursts were threats to even more eruptions.

He said the 400-foot fountains of lava were the highest in the four days of eruption.

MacDonald put the main lava flow from the new fissure about two-fifths of a mile from Kapoho, abandoned village near Hawaii's east coast.

Even before the onset of the fumes and the new outbursts, MacDonald had declared that, "These who can should leave until we know what is happening."

In Pahoa, more than five miles west of the eruption, a few residents left their homes to escape the volcanic fog.

A convoy of trucks heading west from Pahoa was forced to turn back because, "We just couldn't cut through those choking sulphur fumes," one driver said.

The British legislators plainly showing their concern about the "hideous" specter of H-bomb warfare raised by Churchill in his defense speech Tuesday, pressed the government to consider mass evacuation of cities instantly upon the outbreak of war.

The British government has offered to return to the committee and answer any questions.

The executive board statement expressed uncompromising opposition to communism.

State police established roadblocks in the area within a short time after the victim, George Courtney, 53, of Levittown, Pa., was released unharmed.

Police said the three men were in a black 1950 sedan.

Military Planes Carrying 71 Persons Crash In Separate Accidents; Only Three Injured

WESTOVER AIR FORCE BASE, Mass., March 3 (AP)—A four-engine military transport with 58 persons aboard crashed today while landing at Keflavik Airport, Iceland, but the only injuries were two sprained ankles and one dislocated shoulder.

Aboard the C118 Liftmaster were a crew of nine, 30 military personnel and 19 civilians, including four women and a 7-year-old boy.

Names of the injured were not received here.

The aircraft, operated by Military Air Transport Service, was ending a flight from Westover, near Chicopee, Mass., to Keflavik. The passengers included dependents of the military personnel, one or two government stenographers and some construction workers bound for government jobs in Iceland.

MATS officers said the accident was the first to a regularly scheduled passenger flight in more than 22,000 Atlantic crossings and in more than 70,000 transocean crossings in MATS' worldwide service. That injuries were so few was a cause for jubilation in this headquarters of MATS Atlantic Division.

The plane, a military counterpart of the civilian DC6, was in command of Capt. John S. Di Domenico of Auburn, N.J., who will be 36 next Tuesday. It was assigned to the 18th Air Transport Squadron, McGuire Air Force Base N.J.

Radio reports from Keflavik said the plane crashed short of the runway at 1:55 a.m. and was destroyed. Officers here said they were uncertain whether the plane burned.

A spokesman said the pilot had not had trouble with the engines or controls.

Impact with the four-feet-high embankment sheared off the right main landing gear. The twin-engine troop and cargo transport plowed along the ground for some distance and burst into flames, coming to a stop only about 40 feet from a line of shiny new C118s.

Fairchild said that a report by Ardmore Air Force Base that a main landing strut had collapsed was in error.

HAGERSTOWN, Md., March 3 (AP)—An Air Force C119 landed short of the runway at Hagerstown Airport today, tore off part of its landing gear on a rocky embankment and was heavily damaged.

The plane, a military counterpart of the civilian DC6, was in command of Capt. John S. Di Domenico of Auburn, N.J., who will be 36 next Tuesday. It was assigned to the 18th Air Transport Squadron, McGuire Air Force Base N.J.

LONDON, March 3 (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill said today a sneak hydrogen bomb raid on Britain might bring a retaliatory punch "almost immediately" from American bombers.

The 80-year-old statesman rather testily told the House of Commons in answer to questions:

"I suppose an immediate destructive, surprise and treacherous attack by the hydrogen bomb upon this island might possibly be acted upon by our allies in the U. S. A. almost immediately, without further prior consultation."

Graham asked them to publicly acknowledge God. About 2,000 responded.

They filed down from the balconies and out of the orchestra seats, jamming the aisles near the rostrum.

Graham said both President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Churchill asked assurances that U. S. bombers, based in Britain, would not strike against an enemy without getting London's prior okay.

The Prime Minister said his March 1962 agreement with President Eisenhower on the use of the American nuclear bomb force in this country still holds good. This provides that the U. S. jet fleet and bases—manned by some 30,000 American airmen—will be used in an emergency after joint decision by the British and American governments.

But Churchill's reference today hinted at an understanding calling for automatic U. S. retaliation should British centers be wiped out suddenly in Soviet nuclear attack. In such a case there might not be time for consultation, time for the refusal of five union members to tell the Senate investigation subcommittee last December whether they were Communists. They invoked the Constitution's Fifth Amendment on grounds their testimony might tend to incriminate them.

The employees were given dismissal notices, four by the Bethlehem Steel Co. and the fifth by the Lehigh Foundries, Inc. Easton, Pa. The union filed grievances with the firms seeking reinstatement of the workers.

At least one of the workers, John Babirak, Bethlehem, Pa., has since been reported restored to his job by the Bethlehem firm and he has offered to return to the committee and answer any questions.

The executive board statement expressed uncompromising opposition to communism.

Raymond P. Harding Accepts Supervisory Job In Caldwell, N.J., Schools Starting July 1

RAYMOND P. HARDING has been named to a position of elementary education supervisor in the Caldwell, N. J. school system.

Since June, 1951, Harding has been supervising principal of Stroud Township schools at Clearview and Anolomink. His appointment to the Caldwell elementary system becomes effective July 1 of this year.

Known to most residents of this community as "Rex", the 32-year-old educator was once associated with the Stroudsburg school system prior to his work in Stroud Township schools.

Yesterday Harding received final confirmation of his election by the Caldwell board of education. Caldwell is a community of 13,000 population, lying in suburban Newark.

In Caldwell, Harding will be the supervisor of a brand-new, 18-grade school building known as the Jefferson School. The building is not yet completed but a member of the Caldwell board of education told The Daily Record yesterday that it will be ready for occupancy in mid-summer.

The structure also has a full auditorium and gymnasium. It is one of four grade schools in the city.

Harding's election to the position in Caldwell seemed to be a case of the job seeking the man. Early in October last year, Harding received a letter from Dr. Paul Axtell, Caldwell schools superintendent.

Dr. Axtell's letter said that a position as elementary supervisor—a non-teaching, purely administrative job—would soon be open in the Caldwell schools. Through a prominent New Jersey educator, Dr. Axtell said, he had been told of Harding. Would Harding be interested in considering application for the position?

In mid-October Harding replied to the letter, saying that he was interested in applying for the job. A board interview was arranged. This month Harding signed the contract for the job.

Harding's career in Monroe County education has been varied. Born in Pen Argyl, in the heart of the State Bolt area, he attended Lincoln Elementary School and Pen Argyl High School. He was graduated from high school in 1940. Active in high school sports, he was a member of the football team at Pen Argyl.

He worked for several years in area steel mills. Then, in September, 1942, he enrolled at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College. His college career was interrupted abruptly two months later when he enlisted in the armed forces.

Harding spent three and one-half years in the U. S. Army, most of it overseas. He was stationed in England for some time in a radio research laboratory.

He was then transferred to the

Raymond P. Harding

They returned to America that summer. Harding re-enrolled at State Teachers College majoring in secondary education work. In the summer of 1947 he attended Clark University in Worcester, Mass., to do work in cartography and political geography. He was graduated from State Teachers College in May, 1949.

While studying on the local campus, Harding was highly active in student affairs. He was president of World Outlook Club for two years; president of the Future Teachers of America; a member of the French Club and of the Student Senate.

In September, 1949 Harding began his teaching duties at Stroudsburg High School as a teacher of U. S. History. In September of the following year he began graduate studies at Lehigh University. He received his Master of Arts degree from Lehigh in June, 1953 with majors in administration and supervision.

He began his association with the Stroud Township schools in June, 1951. When he first came to the Stroud district school system Harding said that his basic approach would be "to create and encourage a cooperative attitude on the part of the entire staff."

This week, in a talk at his office at Clearview School, Harding said this approach had not changed during his four-year term at the school.

"My first interest, on coming to Stroud township, was to do everything within my power to see that these schools were friendly ones—not just friendly within the staff, but cooperative and friendly in the larger sense," he said. "Working with the staff of teachers, we set out to encourage people to work together, free from fear, in the give-and-take atmosphere of democratic procedure."

"We wanted to have good morals for both the teacher and the child in the schools. In so doing, we have done everything possible to work in close coordination with the people of the community," he said. "So far as school administration was concerned, the objectives were plainly put when I first came to Stroud. They were threefold: To help improve physical facilities of the school; to promote democracy in the school system and to modernize the curriculum."

"My personal feeling is that a good administrator is a man who has faith in the people he is working with. If he has this faith, he will be able to delegate authority and he will build mutual respect in his staff," he said.

"I believe people will work—and work hard—for something they have had a hand in creating and planning. For this reason, if no other, the members of the staff should be allowed to make decisions on their own—even if it means a mistake may be made."

"If a mistake is made, it should be corrected, without finger pointing or excessive blame. Solving problems cooperatively is the best way for all persons involved to grow."

"I believe that conditions should be so fashioned for teachers and pupils that they work under their own steam."

Stroud Township Budget To Provide Saving For Taxpayers

Occupation Tax To Be Eliminated

STROUD Township supervisors have completed work on a tentative budget which, they announced yesterday, will in effect result in a tax saving for the taxpayers of the township.

The millage remains the same—nine for general purposes and two for the fire protection maintenance—a total of 11 mills.

The occupation tax which this millage has raised on occupational assessments has been eliminated.

The supervisors decided to exercise their right to take $5 of the maximum $15 per capita tax allowed the township as a replacement for the occupation.

By taking the $5 per capita tax of the $15 maximum, the supervisors have cut away $5 of the total per capita tax now levied by the school district.

The school's per capita, instead of being $15, will be $10.

The result, supervisors point out, is that net gain to taxpayers will be elimination of the occupation tax.

CIO Workers Call Strike Against PRR

NEW YORK, March 3 (UPI)—President Michael J. Quill of the CIO Transport Workers Union today scheduled a Sunday afternoon strike of 20,000 nonoperating employees of the Pennsylvania Railroad.

In a telegram to the National Mediation Board, Quill claimed the railroad failed to live up to its collective bargaining agreement with the union.

Employees affected would be maintenance men and shop employees in 13 states and the District of Columbia.

Quill's telegram to Secretary F. C. Thompson of the board said the employees would strike "effective 72 hours from the date of this telegram." That would put the start of the strike sometime Sunday afternoon.

The union has claimed jurisdiction over the railroad's nonoperating employees since last fall, when the CIO United Railroad Workers organizing committee affiliated with the TWU.

The TWU has complained that 12,000 maintenance crewmen and safety inspectors have been laid off, and that this has endangered safety standards on the road.

The Pennsylvania has blamed the layoff on a "recession in business" last year, but denied they cut maintenance below the safety level.

Kintner Speaks To Easton C-C

AMERICAN Broadcasting Co. President Robert E. Kintner, a former resident of Stroudsburg, outlined his ideas on how radio and TV relate to the family in his talk as guest speaker at the Easton Area Chamber of Commerce's annual dinner Wednesday night at Easton.

The Stroudsburg High School graduate is the youngest man ever named a network president. His cousin, J. H. Stofflet, and ex-candidates Earl Groner and Herbert Crane, all of Stroudsburg, attended the affair.

Army Officer Lone Casualty

OMAHA, March 3 (UPI)—Army 1st Lt. Robert N. Miller has put down March 1 as a day he won't forget.

When crossing the street he was knocked down and cut and bruised by a car. Then while being taken to a hospital he suffered a head cut when the ambulance was forced off the road and hit a pole.

These were the only personal injury accidents reported for the day in Omaha, a city of 251,117.

Stroudsburg High School Donates Complete Set Of Textbooks To Monroe County Library

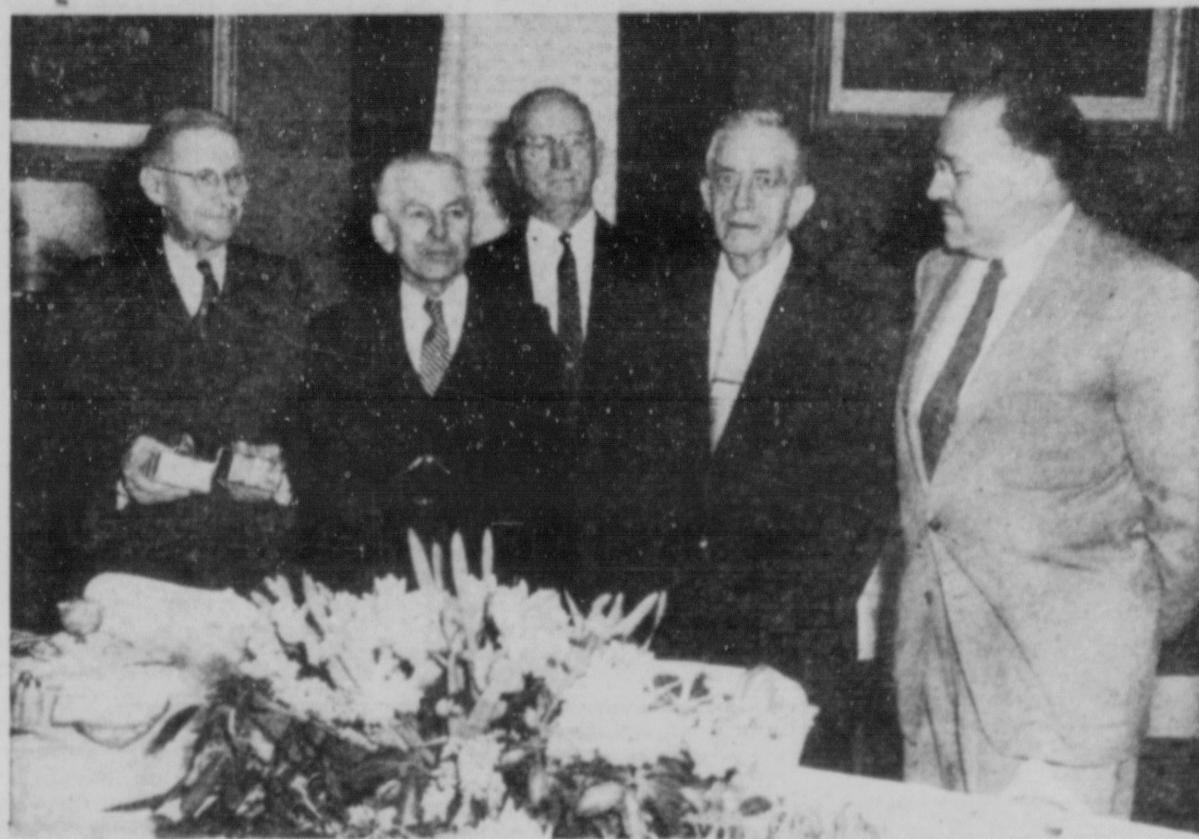

MONROE COUNTY Public Library got 85 new books this week. All of them are textbooks. All came from Stroudsburg High School.

The textbooks are now lined up on shelves in one of the rear rooms of the new library building. They cover a wide range of subjects—from solid geometry to solid nourishment.

Behind the placement of the volumes on public library shelves lies a tale.

According to Alfred W. Munson, principal of the high school, "questions seem to come up quite often concerning the textbooks used in high school courses."

Some of these questions, Munson says, "are light and some are purely for the sake of information. Some, on the other hand, pose questions of a grave and serious nature" concerning the attitude of textbooks toward national and international problems.

Bank Retires Two Veteran Employees

MORE THAN 50 persons gathered at Strickland's Mountain Inn last night to honor two Stroudsburg Security Trust Co. employees.

The honored guests were Arthur W. Bowby and Fred Quig. Those honoring the two men were their fellow employees at the bank and their guests.

In a ceremony conducted following the dinner in the Inn dining room, the two veteran employees received gold watches from the hands of Frank B. Michaels, president.

Quig has been employed at Stroudsburg Security Trust Co. since 1916—a term of service exceeding 38 years. Bowby has been with the bank since 1920, a period of 35 years.

In his brief remarks, Michaels expressed the gratitude of the bank and its employees to both men for their "long and faithful service."

Bowby lives at 1130 Main St., Stroudsburg; Quig is a resident of Arlington Heights, Stroudsburg RD 3.

Edwin Giffels Gets State Inspector Job

EDWIN GIFFELS, 619 King St., Stroudsburg, will become senior professional license inspector under the Department of Public Instruction on March 14, it was authoritatively reported yesterday.

Mr. Giffels, a Democrat, will replace E. Chester Kemp, 329 East Brown St., East Stroudsburg, a Republican, who has held this post for a number of years.

The inspection deals principally with licensing of beauty parlors and goes somewhat into the professional licensure field. The job covers a number of regional counties.

Mr. Giffels had been long identified with the silk business in this region. He was Democratic candidate for the office of county treasurer and has long been identified actively with Democratic politics.

For many years he was a trustee of Stroudsburg Aerie, No. 1106, Fraternal Order of Eagles.

A FORMER STROUDSBURG woman was beaten and robbed of three rings valued at $2,500 in her Tampa, Fla., home Monday morning, it was learned by The Daily Record yesterday.

Mrs. May B. Serfass, 55, was severely battered about the head by thieves and later taken to the hospital with seven gashes in the head and face, according to Tampa police. She is the wife of Lloyd Serfass.

He formerly used Stroudsburg as a home base for the shows.

The former area residents had moved into the large red brick home several months ago following a similar robbery at Henderson, N. C. They had moved from the large, Carolina home following an assault by five masked gunmen. Numerous belongings and valuables had been lost and Mrs. Serfass was also beaten in that incident.

The lavish Serfass "dream home" included such luxuries as indirect lighting rings, a horse-shoe shaped bar, thick rugs, the latest in modern furniture and the favored Royal Dalton china scattered throughout the rooms.

Scholarships Help Build Good Will

FULBRIGHT scholarships are building good will in Egypt, a man who studied there told Stroudsburg Rotary Club yesterday.

The speaker was Dr. J. S. Krawiec, chairman of the physiology department of Skidmore College. Dr. Krawiec spent 1954 in Egypt on a Fulbright scholarship.

In Egypt he taught at the University of Alexandria. He met representatives of all classes in the country and worked with all nationalities.

Through the Fulbright Act, the speaker said, the exchange of ideas has been made possible on a large scale. If these ideas take root, he said, the U. S. has really accomplished a great goal.

Egypt's greatest problem, he said, is illiteracy. In the past education has been available only to the few. The present government, however, is trying to educate the masses, Dr. Krawiec said.

In 1952, he declared, a total of $52 million was allotted to education in the nation. The government is working toward a goal of a six-year minimum education with higher education available to those who can afford it.

To help further education in Egypt, he said, the U. S. is now providing sums for use in the exchange of scholars.

Dr. Krawiec was introduced by Dr. Joseph F. Noonan, president of State Teachers College, East Stroudsburg.

Rome Police Seize U.S. Pastor, Aide

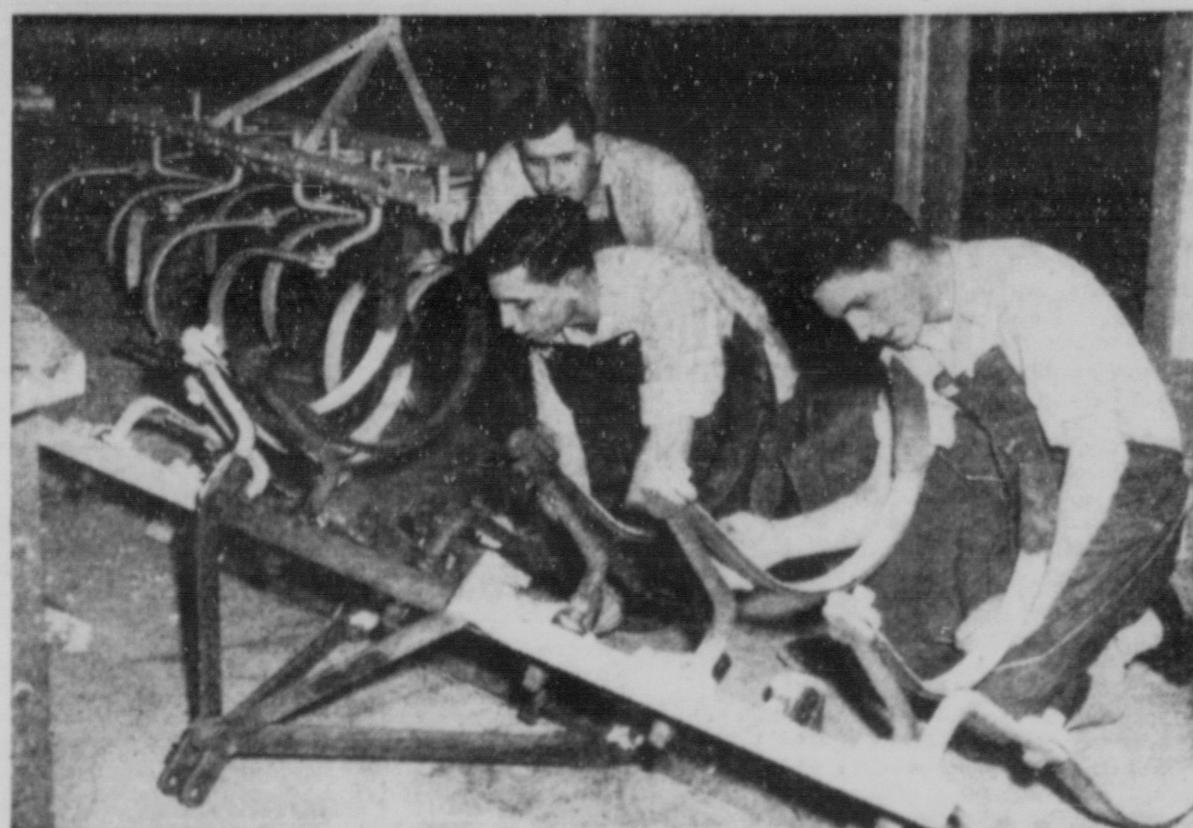

ROME, March 3 (UPI)—Police temporarily seized an American preacher and an Italian helper's wife today in a fast-changing battle over the right of their Protestant church to bear a sign on its building.

A Rome court decision affirming the right of the American-backed Church of Christ to carry a sign was published early in the day. It was hailed as a sweeping legal victory for religious liberty in Italy.

Cline R. Paden of Brownfield and Lubbock, Tex., one of the first organizers of the church in Italy, quickly put up the 10-inch-high brass sign "Chiesa di Cristo"—Church of Christ—which two times previously had been torn down by its building.

But despite the court ruling, police drove up and tore down the sign. Paden immediately started putting it back up. He had it partly affixed to the scarred church wall when police returned and again tore it down.

In the two raids, Paden's brother, Gerald Paden, who also preaches in the church, and Mrs. Vissima Polipoli, whose husband is an Italian helper in the church, were

Couple Files $2,500 Suit Against Smith

The Everitts are represented by Forrest J. Mervine. Plaintiff's statement is that an auto accident occurred Sept. 10 in Jackson Township on Legislative Route 45067, while Everitt, a township supervisor, was driving east.

Plaintiffs claim that Smith was driving west, and was over the center of the road, and a collision followed. Plaintiffs are asking $1,000 for the driver and $1,500 for his wife, Mildred, for the car damage and injuries, they allege.

Air Raid Drill In Jersey Shows Many People Apathetic Toward Threat Of Horror War

By J. M. ROBERTS

Associated Press News Analyst
The impression has grown up over many years that people everywhere are in a constant flap over the possibility of having to face the raging terror of A-bombs.

Wednesday evening I was in a group of six or seven men in Rockefeller Center when the sirens went off across the Hudson river for an air raid drill in New Jersey.

"Here come the Rooshans," said the first to recognize the eerie sound above the din of theater-time traffic in the streets below. "I hadn't heard there was going to be a drill."

Neither had anyone else in the group.

"Maybe one of the things has gone off by accident," said another.

"It's a helluva thing to have an accident about," was the reply.

"Wonder what we'd do if it were real?"

"How do we know it's not?"

Nobody made a move to find out. It had been announced but they hadn't noticed.

"It just isn't the right time. Things aren't built up right. We'd know if there was really danger."

"Well, anyway, what would we do?"

"We'd be just as well off sitting here as doing anything else."

"I'd want to get my wife started out of town and then get to work," said a newsman.

"My wife probably knows more than I do about it," said another. "They have meetings around the neighborhood. She hasn't been, but women pass things around among themselves."

"Yeah, but even the Civil Defense workers don't seem to know

Senate Told Trade Bill Moderate One

WASHINGTON, March 3 (AP)—Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey testified today that the foreign trade program President Eisenhower wants is a moderate one.

"It does not contemplate any drastic changes which would adversely affect sizeable groups of citizens," he told the Senate Finance Committee.

The committee is considering a House bill which would extend the reciprocal trade program for three years and grant authority to the President to reduce American tariffs 5 per cent a year in working out trade agreements.

Under questioning by Sen. Millikin (R-Colo.), Humphrey agreed that the program should not be conducted so as to destroy American industry. The secretary said:

"I cannot emphasize too strongly the importance of maintaining a high level of employment and economic activity right here in the United States upon which the whole world depends."

Baby Sitter Directory Aims To Protect Family, Employe

By HARRY WARNER
Central Press Correspondent

CUMBERLAND, Md.—This city has added something to the usual list of municipal services. Besides police protection, paved streets, and parks, it keeps folk supplied with baby sitters.

Cumberland's recreation department keeps a list of the town's reliable baby sitters, sets a standard rate of baby sitting fees, and even clears up ticklish points of baby sitter etiquette.

Robert E. Pence, city recreation director, has 89 baby sitters in the published baby sitter directory's latest edition. The directory is available to anyone who wants a copy, and is given to every family that moves into this town of 40,000 residents.

"We screen every girl and woman who applies for a place on the list," Pence explains. Police, juvenile court and school authorities are contacted to make sure that the baby sitter has a good reputation.

The baby sitter list is subdivided into neighborhoods, so that newcomers to town can contact a girl in the same general neighborhood. Hours during which each sitter is available are listed, together with nights on which she can't work.

The list even contains a sprinkling of mature women with nursing experience, who are frequently used by persons needing sitters for invalids or elderly relatives.

The Cumberland recreation department recommends these baby sitting rates: 25 cents per hour until midnight, 50 cents per hour after midnight, and 50 cents for any job lasting less than 90 minutes.

Sitters using the service are asked not to take friends to sitting jobs, and in turn the families are asked not to expect the sitter to do anything except care for children. "Reasonable" refreshments for the sitter are recommended, but not mandatory.

"I don't think that even half of all the baby sitting in Cumberland is done through the use of this directory," Pence estimates. "We aren't trying to run the whole baby sitting industry in the city."

"What we are trying to provide is a means for parents to find trustworthy sitters without much difficulty. The directory has proved a big help to strange families in town, and to parents who suddenly find that their regular sitter isn't available."

Cumberland's baby sitter service seems sure to be copied by other persons interested in the idea, persons interested in the idea, when he explained it at a recent convention of recreational directors.

Up to now, no major mishaps or legal difficulties have resulted from the baby sitter directory. Cumberland's city attorney doesn't think that the municipality could be held responsible at law, in case of real trouble involving a baby sitter.

"So far, we've encountered only two families who didn't use the baby sitter directory properly," the recreation director says.

"One family called a sitter, the parents left the house at 11 a.m., and didn't come back home for two days. We warn our sitters against these families."

Sitters are also behaving themselves properly in the vast majority of cases, he has found. One girl who went onto the list with the highest recommendations embarrassed the recreation department by drinking all the beer from the refrigerators at her assignments. She was removed immediately. Such troubles, however, have been rare.

Per Capita Tax Opposed By Governor

ture in order to balance the state's budget, Leader said:

"I don't really know what it's going to take (to balance the budget)."

He reported that 12 departments are completing their hearings for money requests before the Budget Bureau this week.

The governor also stood by his previous forecast that the budget will likely be ready for presentation to the General Assembly next month.

Leader reported also that a plan to defer payment of 25 million dollars in state aid to schools until June 1 would reestablish the commonwealth's cash position.

Until recently there had been speculation that special taxes might be necessary before May 31 to provide the case for a deficit of nearly $9 million dollars inherited from the previous administration.

Leader insisted that no school districts would be "financially embarrassed" by the plan to cut back the school subsidies.

On other matters, the governor said:

Job changeover resulting from the switch from a Republican to a Democratic administration is progressing fairly well but that it would be an overstatement for him to say he is "pleasing everybody."

Substantial savings to consumers should result if an administration bill altering rate case procedure by the Public Utility Commission is passed.

That he has arrived at no decision in selecting a new State Police Commissioner nor a Superintendent of Public Instruction.

Leader gave his endorsement to legislation banning injunctions against labor unions without a court hearing and a proposed constitutional amendment to permit absentee voting in cases of illness, out-of-town business and similar reasons.

Sen. McCarthy Files Report Blasting Army

WASHINGTON, March 3 (UPI)—Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) took another shot at the Army today for its handling of the Peress case. He also revived his charge that the United States trade policies help Red China.

The senator filed a report covering his last year's chairmanship of the Senate Investigations subcommittee. He described it as an official report of the subcommittee, with a reservation by the Democrats on the Peress matter.

The Democrats authorized McCarthy to file the report but called his findings in the Peress case premature.

Under Sen. McClellan (D-Ark.), the new chairman, the subcommittee plans to look further into the matter of Dr. Irving Peress. He is the New York dentist who was promoted to major and granted an honorable discharge from the Army after he had refused to answer McCarthy's questions about Police were called to investigate an alleged assault by the young painter on his sister-in-law and stepfather, and after subduing him, questioned him at length on the Yarrow slaying. Farrell is the father of two children with another on the way.

AEC Advises Firms To Aid Friendly Allies

WASHINGTON, March 3 (UPI)—The

Atomic Energy Commission announced today that it has notified private firms to be prepared to help friendly governments with atomic reactor problems under President Eisenhower's atomic-forces program.

Authorities said there are about 50 companies in the United States qualified to advise a foreign government on the design, construction and operation of an atomic furnace.

The commission also announced a limit of 20 per cent enrichment for the uranium which foreign nations may obtain from the United States for research reactors.

This country has earmarked 100 kilograms, or 220 pounds, of uranium 235, the fissile isotope of the metal, for allocation to friendly countries for research.

Quadruple Amputee In New Job

By Arthur Edson

WASHINGTON, March 3 (P)—The good looking young man in the sharp pink shirt carefully picked up one end of the small wire and deftly plugged it in the proper hole of the complicated board in front of him.

Cameras clicked, big shots in the Veterans Administration beamed, reporters took notes.

For Robert L. Smith, a Korean War Veteran without hands or feet, was showing a news conference today how he goes about his new job as a tabulating machine operator for the Veterans Administration.

If he was bothered by all these people gawking at him, if the task of picking up the right wire with his mechanical hand and putting it in the right spot was still difficult for him, he gave little outward sign of inner tension.

He grinned amiably—but there were some beads of sweat along his hair line.

You probably remember reading about Robert Smith. How the Mid-dieburg, Pa., boy was injured in Korea. How he was so badly frost-bitten both arms and legs had to be amputated. How he spent weary months here in Walter Reed Hospital learning to use his new arms and legs. How a collection was taken and a trust fund was set up for him.

Smith got married, and the couple now has a 16-month-old son.

"I had been thinking all about something I could do," Smith said. "Well, this interested me," and he looked down approvingly at the multicolored wires.

So Smith, who now lives in nearby Takoma Park, Md., enrolled for a course at the International Business Machine Co., applied for a job with the VA, was hired and yesterday put his first full day.

Here in the big VA office around 100 of the big tabulating machines are kept busy combing out statistics on the nation's 21,300,000 veterans.

The work each machine does is regulated by a board in its innards that looks something like a telephone switch board. For one job it's wired one way; for another job, the wires must be switched around.

That's where Smith will start, at a salary of $2,750 a year. The money isn't so important to Smith. In addition to the trust fund, he draws $400 a month pension because of his injuries.

VA officials said no favors will be granted Smith, but both they—and he—hope he'll be able to move right ahead.

"I think I can do it," Smith said.

"All right, you guys," a VA press agent said, "let's clear out now."

So we cleared out, and as we left the determined young man in the fancy pink shirt, he already was absorbed again in putting the right wires in the proper places.

Close Games Mark Play In Chess Tourney

PRESIDENT John Price of the Stroudsburg Chess Club was absent from the regular season last night, having spent the day at a business conference in Harrisburg, but there was a good attendance and a number of hot tournament games.

Highlight of the session was a stubborn contest in which Harold James, a new member challenged the supremacy of Joseph Kushner, the club star. Kushner won after a close battle.

Ed Burnett took the measure of Stanley Siegfried in a game lasting two and a quarter hours. Siegfried seemed unable to get his attack off the ground and Burnett pressed his attack all the time.

William B. Roan, of the Barrett Township School faculty, entered the ranks of club players who play two men at one time. He engaged Louis Mondell and Jesse Kulp, defeating both opponents.

Rev. John B. Haunman of Barrett defeated William Hay of Stroudsburg in two strenuous games.

A tight contest between Frank Merwarth and Ed Somers was won by Merwarth. He also defeated Harold James.

Jesse Kulp and William P. Deering played a tournament game which Kulp won handily giving him the trio of contests between these two players.

Stocks Touch Third Straight All-Time High

NEW YORK, March 3 (P)—The stock market reached its third straight new all-time high today, but not without some difficulty.

Selling in the latter part of the session cut prices on key issues considerably and sent many into the minus column.

Railroads made bare progress. Utilities held steady on balance. Steels and motors were mixed. Oils went higher, chemicals were higher, aircrafts were higher with a few exceptions and airlines were mostly lower as were motion pictures, distillers and coppers.

Price changes extended from around 2 points higher to a point lower with the exception of some strong issues like Boeing which went up 3% at 88%.

Strength in Boeing followed the announcement that the Air Force plans to buy 460 million dollars of Boeing's jet tankers in the next few years.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced 29 cents, its fourth straight rise, and closed at $162.20, its third straight new all-time high.

The industrial component of the average gained 50 cents at a new all-time high of $219.80, railroads edged up a dime at a new high since 1929 of $129.60, and utilities remained unchanged at $72.20, its highest level since 1931.

The list was fairly broad with 1,213 individual issues traded of which 533 advanced and 446 declined. There were 149 new highs and 2 new lows for 1954-55 registered during the day.

Volume was brisk at times but dwindled somewhat when profit-taking started toward the close. It came to 3,350,000 shares as compared with 3,370,000 shares traded yesterday. Both figures are slightly below the daily average of trading so far this year.

The American Stock Exchange was rather mixed on volume of trading, government issues in the over-the-counter market were higher.

Showdown Vote On Harlan Nomination Due Wednesday

WASHINGTON, March 3 (P)—The Senate Judiciary Committee today set next Wednesday for a showdown vote on President Eisenhower's nomination of John Marshall Harlan to be a Supreme Court justice.

Chairman Kilgore (D-WVa) said after a closed-door meeting that Wednesday was the first day on which a majority of the 15-member committee could agree to be present.

Three members of the committee have come out in opposition to Harlan. At least five others have decided to commit themselves publicly. Sen. Knowland of California, the Republican leader, has predicted the nomination will be contested.

Sen. Hennings (D-Mo), one of Harlan's backers, told reporters he thought it was "a foregone conclusion that we would not have had the votes to go ahead today."

On Hennings' motion, the committee agreed to assemble at 10 a.m. next Wednesday and remain in session until a vote is taken. Hennings said he felt delay in filling the Supreme Court vacancy was severely hampering the court's work.

Enelow Plans Expansion Of Town Tavern

JACOB Enelow, owner of the Town Tavern, 724 Main St., Stroudsburg, has drawn up a blueprint for that business establishment. The blueprint includes expansion of the tavern and the concrete encouragement of young associates.

In the latter department, Enelow announced last night that, effective soon, Stanley Siproth and John Zurner will be brought into partnership in the business.

Siproth, Mr. Enelow's son-in-law, is now serving as manager of the Town Tavern. He's no newcomer to the business—been with Enelow the past seven years at the Tavern, which means that he came to the Town Tavern at the same time Enelow took it over back in 1947.

All three men are best known by their nicknames—Enelow by "Jake," Siproth by "Stan" and Zurner by "Whitney."

Enelow is well-known in the Monroe County business community. Owner of a men's cap factory in Stroudsburg during the early days, he later owned and managed a shoe store in this borough. He was the builder of most of the houses in what is now known as the Pocono Park section.

For several years he owned and operated Craig's Meadows Hotel. When he sold that hotel he retired for a year. On coming out of retirement he assumed ownership of the Town Tavern.

Siproth, who is 34 and lives in Delaware Water Gap, served with the 28th Infantry Division, U. S. Army, in the European Theater of Operations from 1943 to 1945 during World War Two. He is married; has two sons.

After discharge from the Army in 1945 he worked for a period of two years with C. B. Hartman and Sons' plumbing firm locally. He went to work at Town Tavern in 1947, where he has been employed ever since.

Zurner is 29 years old; lives at 725 Monroe St. and is not married. A U. S. Navy veteran—28 months during World War Two, from 1943 through 1945—he is a native of Forty Fort, near Wilkes-Barre.

Zurner came to Monroe County in 1946 to attend school at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College. He went to work at the Town Tavern in October, 1950.

Last night Enelow announced that both Siproth and Zurner are being made partners in the business with Enelow, himself.

As another phase of the long-range plan he has drawn up for the tavern, Enelow announced that a large addition will be constructed to the rear of the present building.

This expansion about 48 feet long and 28 feet wide will be used to provide space for banquets and private parties. The addition will be equipped with its own kitchen and will have its own service bar.

Construction of the addition will further enlarge the facilities of the Town Tavern, Enelow said. The owner has established an enviable reputation in the borough for good food, excellent drinks served in a friendly surrounding.

HENRY G. TUCKER of the Tucker Chevrolet Co. has just returned from Philadelphia where he took part in a meeting of the Chevrolet Planning Committee for this zone.

Mr. Tucker was elected to the committee by fellow dealers under a nationwide program by which Chevrolet keeps in touch with retail selling problems. In his position he acted as spokesman for other Chevrolet dealers in this area.

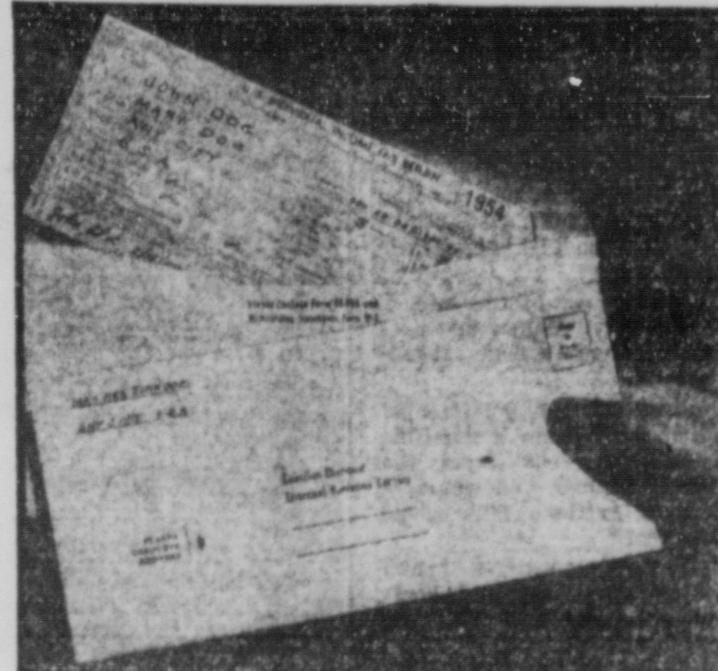

The dealer committee system was pioneered in 1937 by Chevrolet and has since been widely used in the automotive and other merchandising fields. The program serves as another means by which dealers and the company exchange views on industry developments and discuss mutual problems.

Under the system, the more than 7,600 dealers in the company's 43 zones and branches first elect 20 committeemen for each area, or a total of 860. Zone committeemen meet and select representatives to serve on the eight regional committees. These 86 regional committeemen then name 16 dealers from their group—two from each region—to meet with Chevrolet officials in Detroit as the National Dealer Planning Committee.

THE PRUDENTIAL Insurance Company's Easton District has been named the company's top sales leader for 1954, among all districts in the company's eastern Pennsylvania region, it was announced yesterday.

Wesley R. Stevens, director of agencies for the area, announced the achievement in a congratulatory message to E. P. Canavan, who heads the district's operations. He pointed out that the district also ranked high in company-wide standings among Prudential's more than 475 district offices in the United States and Canada.

At the same time he announced that the group of agents supervised by staff manager Walter Schlough ranked highest in sales per man in the region. Members of the leading staff which has its headquarters in the Stroudsburg branch office, are: Wallace Long, Dawson Seese, John Ryczak, Ben-

Raymond P. Harding Accepts Job In Caldwell Schools

"A good administrator must, of course, make decisions on his own. These decisions should be the result of sound judgment, based on the process of thinking things through completely, however."

"But the most important thing is this: The administration of the school should be the most democratic process of all—to give an actual demonstration to the pupils, where it really counts—in the school," he said.

The Hardings live at 1515 Spruce St. with their four-year-old son, Steven Turner Harding. They plan to move to Caldwell later this year.

Harding's resignation from the Stroud school system is effective at the end of his present contract.

In commenting on his resignation and new appointment, Harding said:

"I'd like to thank the members of the Stroud Township school board for all the kindnesses they have shown to me, personally, and for their continued interest and activity on the part of better schools and broader, more complete education for the children of the township."

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

The supper hour creeps up on you these days. Accustomed to starting the potatoes at the same time that it was necessary to light the lamps, you really have to hustle when the whole family comes piling into eat in a hurry while you're still hemmed by the brightness of the afternoon.

A lot of things are creeping up, all unawares. Nominating committees, for instance. Almost any ordinary telephone bell can herald the beginning of your reign as president, or secretary, or sergeant-at-arms.

Fortunate the organization which has a regular progression for officers. Everybody just moves up one and the nominating committee's task is limited to finding a low man for the totem pole.

Not creeping up but marching like an army with banners and all trumpets blowing are the Seniors moving toward graduation. Everyday the notices are arriving from colleges regarding admission for next Fall, with cries of triumphs clearly audible in the next block.

The Juniors, busy carting scenery for their play or worrying about their costumes, suddenly seem to have aged considerably.

But not nearly so much as the parents for whom time has suddenly taken the bit in its teeth and is galloping away as wild as the March wind and as uncontrollable.

Red Cross Classes In First Aid, Home Nursing Go On As Annual Drive Begins

The first reports on the 1955 Red Cross Campaign for Members and Funds will be presented tonight at the meeting of the executive committee and board of directors of the Monroe Chapter to be held at 7:30 at Red Cross headquarters on Court House Square.

Meanwhile as several hundred volunteers call on their friends and neighbors to solicit their memberships and contributions, the work of the chapter itself continues in its many services.

This week, the course in home nursing presented to seniors at East Stroudsburg High School is being completed. Mrs. Thomas Shoemaker, working with the faculty has conducted two classes in the high school of 34 girls for a six weeks course of instruction.

She used the themes "Man, God and the City" and "Let God Happen to You." The president, Mrs. Rosa Shupp led in prayer. Reports were given by division chairmen: Mrs. Esther Hendry for Christian stewardship; Mrs. Nora Anglemeyer, social action; Mrs. Kathryn Snyder, missionary work; and Mrs. Dunning for Christian education.

During the past year 410 First Aid Certificates were issued in the county. The course is designed to teach individuals to care for a patient until the services of a doctor can be obtained and is one of the important divisions of Civil Defense.

CHESTNUTHILL High and its region of basketball fans must still be floating on air, following its Monroe County League championship victory over Coolbaugh on Wednesday night, by a 58-48 count. It was the first time that Chestnuthill has even won the MCL crown and the blue and gold clad cagers turned the trick in the first season they played under the direction of Coach Bill Frear, who graduated from East Stroudsburg State Teachers College only last year.

There is much to be said about the Chestnuthill victory, but the truth of all success enjoyed by the Frearmen this season has been brought about by plain hard work. Those who watched this same Chestnuthill club get slaughtered by Matamoras, in the East Stroudsburg Christmas Tournament, found it tough to believe that they were watching the same team in action against Coolbaugh. The Chestnuthill team they watched early in the season had trouble getting the ball past mid court—but things certainly changed in two months.

The Frearmen worked the ball in championship fashion against Coolbaugh and even when the latter began using a pressing defense, Chestnuthill had the needed weapons to keep control of the game, even though the ultimate loser did tie the score at 37-37 at one point in the second half. Chestnuthill has practiced, drilled and practiced some more until it reached its present peak.

Now is saying that Chestnuthill can defeat Coplay in the first class "C" District 11 Playoff on Monday, but everyone is saying that Frear has turned in one of the finest coaching jobs in the history of the circuit. He turned Dick Kreger into one of the finest performers in the league and also has the team that everyone said couldn't "move" early in the season, working like a well oiled machine right now. If we were to name the scholastic coach of the year in Monroe County this season I don't know how Bill could miss the honor.

The Chestnuthill fans are really steamed up over their boys and rightfully so. They swarmed around Frear and the players after the game and each pressed forward to offer his own personal congratulations. The season was capped brilliantly when the players picked Frear up and carried him from the court. It was a real championship and won by a fine bunch of kids.

Coolbaugh went down with all guns firing and in an outstanding fashion. Never did the members of Coach Don Wissner's squad offer an excuse and never did the green and white clad cagers deal out a cross word. They naturally were a disappointed lot, but they never allowed their feelings to overcome their sound judgement. They played hard and proved to be one of the best runnners in the history of the Monroe County League.

The sportsmanship displayed by players of both teams was of the highest calibre possible. In fact the Coolbaugh players shook hands with the opposition after almost every personal foul committed. I believe Wednesday's contest proved that all truly good teams are also long on that stuff called sportsmanship. Good players have common sense and players with common sense are naturally good performers for they have the brains to know right from wrong.

Coolbaugh appeared very nervous at the beginning of the contest, and before the Wissermen got their feet on the floor Chestnuthill had blasted off to a 10-0 lead, the margin by which the West End contingent finally won the contest. The big difference in the two teams naturally was Kreger, who in the general consensus of opinion, is the most improved player in the circuit at the present time. He scored 15 points, but his real value was in the role of rebounder as he controlled both boards.

Dick Buzovsky was another brilliant performer in victory, but the Chestnuthill club would never operate if it weren't for Harold Burkett, a little junior, who sets up the plays and scores the points when the chips are down. Each time it appeared as if Coolbaugh was about to burst into the lead, Burkett would come up with one or more field goals to turn the tide of battle. Burkett is back next season, although Chestnuthill loses both Kreger and Buzovsky by graduation. In defeat Coolbaugh's Jim Kinsley and Bob Sapp were outstanding, and even if they finished in second place the two cagers will always be champions in their own school.

Phillies Satisfied With New Manager Even Though Pennant Race Is In Distant Future

CLEARWATER, Fla., March 3 (UPI)—More and more Philadelphia officials are becoming aware they made the right choice when they selected Mayo Smith, a relatively unknown, to succeed Terry Moore as manager of the Phillies.

Smith hasn't won a game yet but in his brief tenure with the club, he's given evidence of possessing good judgment in the handling of a club and has shown himself to be a manager who will command the respect of his players. He has yet to prove himself a tactician on the field but General Manager Roy Hamey, who fired him, has no worries.

"I have been aware of Smith's capabilities for a long time," said Hamey. "Mayo and I were connected with the New York Yankees organization for several years and I had numerous opportunities to observe him. However, before I decided on him, I sought the advice of top Yankee officials. All agreed that he had the best potential of any of the minor league managers in the Yankee chain."

Smith is fully aware that the club he has taken over has had little success since it won the 1950 pennant and blew the World Series to the Yankees in four straight. He made no rash promises of better things to come, but he predicted the Phils will have a better winning spirit in 1955 and will work together more as a team.

Oklahoma City, Bradley Join NCAA Field Despite Records

NEW YORK, March 3 (UPI)—Bradley and Oklahoma City University were added to the National Collegiate basketball championship field today and immediately joined a half dozen other teams in looking around for a used Cinderella outfit to wear in the tournament.

Dudas Among Leaders In Mexico Open

MEXICO CITY, March 3 (UPI)—Tony Holguin, Midlothian, Ill., pro set a stiff pace for the opening round today of the $5,000 National Mexican Open tournament, turning in a 66 on the par 72 course of the Chapultepec Golf Club.

Runnersup on the 6,500-yard course were Billy Capps, St. Louis, Mo., and Amado Martinez, Puebla, Mex., each with a 68.

Ernie Vossler, Fort Worth, Tex.; Stanley Dudas, Shawnee-on-Delaware, Pa., and Percy Clifford, Mexico City, each finished with 69s.

Wes Target For Leo

PHOENIX, Ariz., March 3 (UPI)—A drive to reduce catcher, Wes Westrum's excess weight was begun today by Manager Leo Durower of the world champion New York Giants.

"I've got to get the whip to Wes," Durocher said. "I'm going to work him aplenty. He can hardly bend for a ball."

Westrum, whose normal playing weight is 194, reported to camp at 206.

Wertz To Stay On First

TUCSON, Ariz., March 3 (UPI)—It looks like Vic Wertz will be at first base for the Cleveland Indians again this year.

Manager Al Lopez has Dale Mitchell and Joe Altobelli—and, in a pinch, Ralph Kiner—but he says as of now the first base job belongs to Wertz until somebody proves himself better.

The breakdown shows 90 men trying for eight spots and 35 women going for five places.

Good Offer Awaits Thomas

FORT MYERS, Fla., March 3 (UPI)—There's a contract for $18,000 awaiting outfielder Frank Thomas if he calls the Pittsburgh Pirates brass at this southern training site, reports Chilly Doyle, veteran baseball writer for the Pittsburgh Sun Telegraph.

Doyle said today a top member of the Pirates' organization, who declined the use of his name, told him the figure is $5,500 more than Thomas received last season. The 26-year-old outfielder is one of two regulars still holding out. The other is pitcher Vernon Law.

Stengel Changes Mind

ST. PETERSBURG, March 3 (UPI)—Casey Stengel has dismissed from his mind the idea of converting catcher Yogi Berra, the American League's most valuable player, to the outfield. The manager of the New York Yankees said today Berra would "catch every day once the season starts."

Long Shot Wins At Hialeah Park

MIAMI, Fla., March 3 (UPI)—W. L. Huntley's Rosemary B., a 13 to 1 chance, was in a running mood today and sped to a length and a half victory in the $33,800 Black Helen Handicap, closing feature of Hialeah Park's racing season.

Rosemary B., under 112 pounds, ran the mile and a furlong in 1:49 2/5 under jockey William McKinley Cook and earned $24,500 for her owner, a Coral Gables, Fla., contractor.

J. M. Roehling's Crisset, a 25 to 1 shot, finished surprising second, four lengths in front of Mrs. Charles Silvers' Lavender Hill, the high weight at 124 pounds.

Lily-Ann Stable's Guayana, the 5 to 2 favorite with the crowd of 18,279, was fourth.

Rosemary B. paid $28.80, $13.30

Graham To Make Final Comeback Attempt In Bout With Vejar At Madison Square Garden

NEW YORK, March 3 (UPI)—Billy Graham, the old boxing master of the welterweight division, will make one final try tomorrow night to see if he has anything left when he faces ambitious Chico Vejar in Madison Square Garden.

The 32-year-old New Yorker, idle five months, is given an even chance in the betting against the 23-year-old NYU junior from Stamford, Conn. The 10-rounder will get under way at 10 p.m. EST, and will be broadcast and telecast (NBC).

Two years ago the slick boxing Graham would have been a 3-1 choice to punch holes in the aggressive but easy to hit Vejar. That was when Billy was the No. 1 147-pound contender and Chico had vaulted into a No. 5 ranking.

Since then time and the wear and tear of 124 pro fights have taken the speed out of Graham's legs and dulled his once rapid reflexes. He hasn't fought since Oct. 21 when he was beaten by Ramon Fuentes. In the fight previous to that he dropped a decision to Denmark's Chris Christensen, a real nobody.

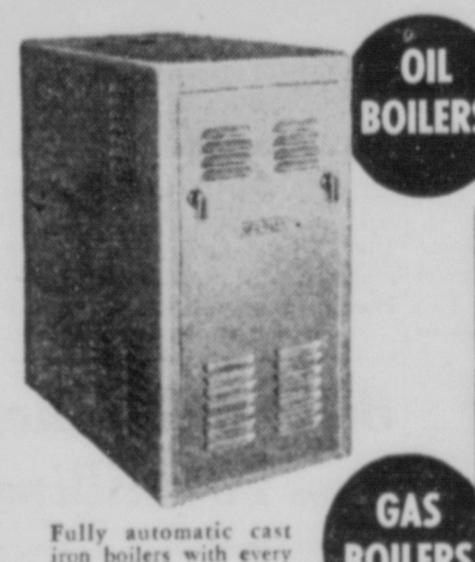

"I guess this is the test," said Billy today. "I've never lost three in a row before and if I can't beat Vejar I might just as well pack it in. He has nothing to beat me with. He's easy to hit, has a push-button chin, and can't punch hard enough to bother me."

Graham has a 102-13-9 record. Vejar, out of the Army only a few months, has an unbeaten streak of seven, including a draw with Ted Black. He had his jaw broken and lost 12 upper teeth in a plane crash a year ago but says his jaw is stronger than ever. His record is 58-4-1.

Orioles Fall Before Bluejays In Junior High League Tilt

COACH GEORGE METROPOULOS and his Orioles went down to another basketball defeat in the National League division of the Stroudsburg Junior High intra-mural basketball program recently when the Bluejays flew to a 24-9 victory.

Russia Nears Ice Hockey Championship

COLOGNE, Germany, March 3 (UPI)—The United States and Czechoslovakia battled to a stormy 4-4 draw tonight while unbeaten Russia and Canada moved ahead toward their championship battle in the world ice hockey championships.

Russia humbled Germany, 5-1, at Dusseldorf and Canada scraped through to a surprisingly loose 3-0 decision over Sweden at Krefeld.

It was the sixth straight victory for each without a defeat and left no doubt that Sunday night's big clash between the Soviet and Canada will decide the title. Russia is the defending champion.

The US-Czech game, played before a demonstrative crowd of 2,000 here, ended in a state of wild confusion with supporters of both sides arguing over America's tying goal.

Couple Makes Long Trip To Face Charges

WINNIPEG, March 3 (AP)—A Winnipeg couple who were "on their honor" to return to Canada from Fort Worth, Tex., to face criminal charges, found justice tempered with mercy today.

Mrs. Evelyn Verna Lindal, 23, and Gerald Lloyd Medland, 23, a college student, each received a five-year suspended sentence in connection with the theft and forgery of a $27,786 check. They had gained only $2,300 in actual cash, for which they made full restitution, the prosecution said.

Mrs. Lindal pleaded guilty to taking the check from the office of her employer on Jan. 31. Medland pleaded guilty to forging and altering the check, which he deposited in an account from which the $2,300 was drawn. Medland was required also to pay $200 toward cost of apprehension and prosecution.

Mrs. Lindal and Medland were arrested at Fort Worth a few days after they left Winnipeg in Medland's car.

They were permitted to travel back to Winnipeg on their honor.
